I am passionate about using data to address healthcare inequities, improve patient outcomes, and optimize resource allocation. For example, how can predictive analytics reduce hospital readmissions? What factors drive disparities in care access, and how can interventions be targeted effectively? Additionally, I'm interested in evaluating the impact of new healthcare technologies and identifying cost-saving opportunities while maintaining quality, using data-driven insights to inform policy and decision-making.